The Spalding Spelling Scale consists of eight standardized, fifty-word tests of equal difficulty. The Scale was developed by J. Cayce Morrison, Ph.D. and William A. McCall, Ph.D.; Dr. Morrison was a Specialist in Educational Measurements at the State Department of Education, Albany, New York. Dr. McCall was a professor of educational psychology at Teachers College, Columbia University, New York.

The words were selected from the Spalding Spelling/Vocabulary Word List of high frequency words compiled by Dr. Leonard P. Ayres and Dr. B. R. Buckingham. The authors acknowledged the assistance of these gentlemen and expressed appreciation for the teachers and superintendents of the New York State schools who participated in the norming samples. These norms represent average achievement for 57,337 students. The grade scores for each test range from Grade 1.0 to Grade 13, first-year college.

Mrs. Spalding incorporated the Spalding Spelling/Vocabulary Word list in The Writing Road to Reading and obtained permission to reproduce the Spalding Spelling Scale. This Scale is now in the public domain. Therefore, we have incorporated the pertinent parts in the SEI Spelling Assessment Manual. Spelling scores on standardized achievement tests should be at least one year above the grade placement for each child to assure subject area competence and a smooth transition to the next grade.

In The Spalding Method, the Spalding Spelling Scale is used ...

- to identify the initial instructional level of individual students and the class.
- to evaluate monthly student/class progress.
- to gather information to refine instruction.

List 1 is used for the pretest and posttest. Lists 2 through 8 are administered on or about the same day each succeeding month.

Spelling is a complex skill. The more we analyze students' progress, the more adept we become at diagnosing difficulties and adjusting our teaching to meet every child's instructional needs.
